

LTG REPERTORY TRAINING PROGRAMME

OVERVIEW:

The LTG Repertory Training program is an annual membership program meant for aspiring stage actors to hone their skills in performance and theory. The program will be led by an Artistic Director and will follow a devised curriculum, which will include the following aspects and more:

- Exposure to various methods of acting, body movement and voice projection
- Introduction to a variety of classical drama (indian and international)
- Workshops and trainings in other related aspects of theatre- set design, costume design, lights design, theatre music, make up, production etc.
- Exposure and detailed understanding of the entire cycle of the play production process.

The learnings experienced through trainings and workshops conducted by the Artistic Director and other guest lecturers/theatre professionals will be supplemented and put to test through a minimum of engaging in two theatre productions in the year. Apart from this the programme will also give the repertory members opportunities to conduct theatre outreach programmes in the form of workshops/trainings/movie screenings on theatre in schools and other communities throughout the year.

Furthermore, the Repertory Programme is being designed to include additional activities for members and non-members:

- Play readings and analysis
- Seminars/movie screenings and other theatre training events held at LTG
- Festivals/shows organised by the Repertory for revenue generation for further productions
- Engaging with a digital audience: members may be invited to conduct interviews with directors, write blogs and create online theatre training content for audiences of the Space.

TIMINGS:

- The time structure will be part time (2-3 hours a day/approx 40 hours per month). The actual timings are subject to change/vary and will be a joint decision between members, faculty and LTG Management. Time commitment is likely to increase during pre-show and show days.
